Joint Meeting of the Virginia Sections of the American Nuclear Society and American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

This meeting is our annual joint meeting of the Virginia Sections of the American Nuclear Society and American Society of Mechanical Engineers. With the current news and issues related to natural gas and nuclear power as part of the energy source for reduced CO2 emissions, this speaker and topic are timely for our organizations. Greg's presentation will focus on his belief that both nuclear professionals and natural gas technical experts have a responsibility to help the public better understand the benefits of their respective technologies

Speaker Biography:

Greg Kozera is an engineer with a master's degree in environmental engineering and an environmentalist with more than 35 years of experience in the natural gas and oil industry. He is the immediate past president of the Virginia Oil and Gas Association and the author of "Just the Fracks, Ma'am." Kozera has worked in the field on frack crews, done the engineering designs for fracks and has managed facilities with more than 200 employees. Kozera has a comprehensive understanding of the fracturing process and how important it is to our children, grandchildren and the security of our nation. Since publishing his book he has engaged with a number of media outlets and members of the public. He has met with legislators and energy industry leaders in Virginia. The process has helped him realize how much he did not know about the importance of nuclear energy and its potential for growth.
